Covid was an eye opener for all of us as we have faced the challenges and the obstacles of the industries. In the days of covid some industries soared higher, some low and some were completely cracked. The rise and fall of the industries were solely dependent on the challenges taken by the leaders. The skills to see through in times of such void were the biggest challenges for the leaders. Leadership is the actions of converting vision into reality. We encourage our students to choose their path victoriously and to learn from the unheard stories. This
